Editorial Comment

Common Cause, the uncommon nation-wide reform group which made common cause with the earthier People's Lobby of California in the Proposition No. 9 campaign to reform politics in this state, evidently doesn't consider that "reform" sufficient, involved and extreme as it is.

Now it wants to take on incumbent office holders more strongly.

CC's chairman, Michael Walsh, has been reported as chastising our state's electoral process by saying "There is only on major political party in California–the Incumbency Party." He predicts that in the November elections 90 percent of the incumbents on the ballot will be reelected; and of those, 80 percent will win by landslides.

Mounting his personal Rosinante, Walsh tilts at the win-mill of election campaign funding. He complains that challengers must raise "substantial" campaign funds if they have any hope of overcoming the name identification advantages of the incumbents.

He throws in another statistic: that 75 percent of legislative campaigns in which an incumbent is involved are not competitive. And adds:

"This leads us to conclude that something must be done about campaign financing."

All that Walsh is quoted as saying about that "something" is that Common Cause will be working with the legislature during the next session in an attempt to push through a reform of present campaign financing. Prop. No. 9 evidently wasn't good enough.

Walsh's verbal jousting seems to say only that winning an election is OK, but serving in public office should be penalized somehow at election time. Getting in is good, but staying in is naughty?

Which makes one wonder how all our incumbents ever got elected in the first place.

CALIFORNIA SPEAKS

RICHARD LYMAN, Stanford Pres.—"Education is, or ought to be, much more than a string of clobbered exams. Too much concern for success—or rather too much effort to try to eliminate the very possibility of failure—leads to playing it safe perpetually."

JACK BLACK, Menlo Park, telephone company public affairs exec, on neighborhood improvement—"Volunteerism is far from dead. The minorities are becoming the real experts at it; the blacks doing it first and the other minorities moving into the field."

DR. RANDALL C. PHILLIPS, L.A. minister—"Too many people are immobilized by their mistakes, instead of realizing that used constructively, mistakes can be an avenue to greatness."

WINE

BAKERSFIELD – California's newest wine region is the Bear Mountain district in Kern county. Last year about one-fourth of the state's wine grape plantings were rooted in this area, giving it the potential to become the "wine capital" of California by 1975.

HEARING

SACRAMENTO – Assemblyman Gordon Duffy has announced that the Public Utilities commission will hold a series of hearings throughout the service territory of the Southern California Edison company to discuss that company's request for a $300 million rate increase. One of the hearings will be held in Visalia on November 13, at the City Council chamber, City hall, 707 West Acequia.

Rice harvest is about 50 percent completed in the Sacramento valley.

BILL MADSEN will lead off Porterville Adult School's 1974-75 Film-Lecture Forum series on Monday, October 28, 7:30 p.m. in the Veterans Memorial auditorium, presenting a "New Look at Scotland." Enrollment in the Film Forum is open to all interested adults, free of charge. Enrollment can be made by calling the Adult School at 784-7000, 784-5149, or may be completed at the Memorial building on October 28.

STUDENTS IN UNIQUE PROGRAM AT U. OF PACIFIC

SACRAMENTO – Two Porterville students, Lyndel W. Melton, son of Mrs. Clifford Melton, and Guy Sharp, son on Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Sharp, are participating in a Cooperative Education program at the University of the Pacific School of Engineering in Stockton. The students alternate work experience with classroom subjects during the last three years of a five-year program at UOP.

Melton, a fifth year civil engineering major, is currently studying engineering with the Hydrocomp, Inc. in Palo Alto. Sharp, a fifth year civil engineering major, is currently studying engineering with the Ventura County Public Works department. Both Melton and Sharp transferred to Pacific from Porterville Junior college.

The Co-op program allows the students to earn approximately $10,000 during the three years. Pacific is one of the few West Coast schools with such a program, and implementation of the Cooperative Education program in 1970 has resulted in a doubling of the enrollment at the UOP School of Engineering.

More than three-quarter million persons have completed hunter safety training in California.

PUT THAT 5% SURTAX ON GOVERNMENT AND CUT FEDERAL BUDGET $15 BILLION

LOS ANGELES – State Senator H.L. "Bill" Richardson has asked President Gerald Ford to place the 5% surtax on government instead of the nation's taxpayers.

Addressing Governor Ronald Reagan's Stateside Economic Summit at the Marriott hotel in Los Angeles, Richardson, a candidate for U.S. Senate, said his proposal would drastically curtail inflation by reducing federal spending.

"President Ford should place a 5% surtax on the federal government," Richardson said. "The budget of every federal department should be 'taxed' five percent. In other words, the total budget should be reduced by at least 5%, or $15 billion. The result would be that we would move toward a balanced budget or even a surplus.

"Thus, this would tend to limit the rate of growth in the monetary supply, since the federal government would not be creating dollars to finance a deficit. The federal government is the primary cause of inflation; therefore, this approach would be far more effective than President Ford's proposals to combat inflation.

"Since taxpayers are already overburdened, it hardly makes sense to increase income taxes. Why should taxpayers be punished for the excesses of the federal government? It would be both more equitable and a more effective means of curbing inflation, if President Ford's surtax is applied to the government, not the people.

"Finally, let me say that Congress, and that includes the Senate's biggest spender up for re-election, Sen. Cranston, must stop proposing its endless number of new spending programs. If inflation is going to be stopped, Congress and Sen. Cranston must support President Ford's atempts to cut federal spending, not oppose his every attempt to achieve a balanced budget."

B.D. WELDON NEW MANAGER OF WARD'S STORE

A native of South Carolina, Weldon moved west in 1961 following four years in the U.S. Navy. He attended Portland state where he majored in business.

RIDER CALLS INFLATION A HOAX

TULARE – Speaking to a group of supporters in Tulare, Glenn Rider, American Independent party candidate for the 32nd Assembly district, stated "inflation is the biggest hoax perpetrated on the U.S. citizen."

"Inflation is an increase in the amount of currency in circulation, resulting in a relatively sharp and sudden fall in its value and a rise in prices," Rider stated. "Since the Constitution restricts the power to 'coin money and regulate value' to the government, we can positively state that inflation is caused by our federal government and not the people," Rider continued.

As an Assemblyman, Rider said he would attempt to block any Federal expenditures in California not based on a sound monetary footing and strictly Constitutional in nature. Stating the only way to cut the rate of inflation is to cut government deficit spending, Rider said he would like to see a bill introduced in the legislature that would require a 10 percent decrease in legislators' pay for every 10 percent increase in the budget from this day forward.

"This type of bill would have many good points. It would reduce the staggering number of bills introduced, thereby giving each legislator more time to study the impact and ramifications of each bill before the vote; and, it would eliminate much of the crackpot legislation which binds the citizens down," Rider stated.

"We must bind down the power of our government, not the citizens," Rider said.

The Los Angeles to Phoenix road race in 1912 was won by Ralph Hamlin who averaged 26 miles an hour in his Franklin car.

It's Happening In SPRINGVILLE

By Carolyn J. Giddings

You know how you read about big contests (all you have to do is send in six box tops, etc.) and think "If I even knew someone who won one of those, I'd enter!" - well, Craig Darling, being young and unembittered entered the National Coca Cola Contest by sending in six bottle caps and won a brand new Schwinn Varsity Bicycle! There were 5,000 such winners and Craig, age 16, numbered 4,681. Kind of renews your faith, doesn't it?

Springville Community TV, Incorporated is again accepting donations for the upkeep and betterment of the TV translators located on top of Mt. Lumereaux. If you receive Channels 7 or 11, you are directly benefitting from the translators and all the hard work the Community TV committee has done. You see, the signal from Channels 6 and 47 are received on Mt. Lumereaux and because they cannot be rebroadcast on those channels, Springville Community TV is licensed by FCC to translate the signal to Channels 7 and 11 and broadcast the signal to Springville and area residents. The annual donation is $15.00 and if you are interested in receiving a third channel, an additional $20.00 will help reach the $2500 goal for an all-transistorized translator. At this time, Fred McGregor of the Springville Community TV committee reports that they are $600 or $700 short of their goal. Springville Community TV is a non-profit organization and cannot continue to operate without the yearly donation and is highly dependent on volunteer labor. To mail your donation, address it to - Springville Community TV, Inc., P.O. Box 701, Springville, Cal. 93265.

The Baptist Church of Springville has some hunters and some good camp cooks in its midst - Early last week, Claude and Helen Barnes, Dub and Wanda Whatley, Bob and Lou Brannon and Myron and Carolyn Giddings met at Hedricks Pond where they spent Sunday and Monday nights. Arising early to hunt and returning for Wanda, Helen and Lou's culinary creations the trip was fun, but deer-less. Monday night they were joined by Wayne and Ina Whatley and children (who spent the night) and the Patrick Brannon family and everyone sang around the campfire, roasted marshmallows and watched Wayne's tires go flat. Reverend Brannon and family have all been down since with sore throats so perhaps the singing wasn't a good idea.

OUR TOWN

BY RUTH LOYD

Dear ADA:

I didn't have a stamp, and I wanted to write you because I haven't heard from you for ages. How are you and that beautiful view from your breakfast table, looking out on the beautiful Pacific, in all its moods, how lovely.

Yes, I'm still writing this delightful column every week, for my darling editor. You know BILL RODGERS, don't you? He's a friend of JOE DOCTOR'S, and he scares me to death. Otherwise, I wouldn't write this thing. If I don't get it in on time, he yells at me. Anywhere! He's very special around OUR TOWN. He always has his picture in the paper, and usually, if they can't get anyone else, he is Master of Ceremonies at our civic things. He's really very good.

We have acquired a puppy, and I finally found a doghouse for her. I painted it the other day. I talked to MIKE RODRIQUEZ at Jones Hardware, and he gave me some paint for an undercoat and green for the color. When I got home, MIKE called and said he had given me the wrong color for the undercoat, and said he would rush out at once with the white. That is one thing that is so great about living in a small town. People seem to care. The puppy and I sat on the curb and waited for MIKE, and he brought me the paint. The black paint for an undercoat, would have been awful. I wouldn't have known any better, and painted it black. Wasn't that nice of MIKE? I really appreciated it.

I go to the college every Wednesday evening for a life drawing class. Our instructor is TOM HOWELL, and we all think he is one of the best instructors we have ever had. TOM also instructs in sculpture and he is really interested in a young student named HUGH HARDIN. HUGH is the son of GLEN HARDIN, who is a sign painter for OUR TOWN. HUGH is in the eighth grade, and can't decide if he wants to be a sculptor or a tennis bum. He makes good grades in school, and really loves art. Isn't GLEN lucky to have a son who is interested in the same thing that he is? TOM seems to think HUGH will be able to do something really great when he hits his potential.

Have you had to watch all the football on T.V. that I have? Isn't it hilarious when the camera pans through to one of the players sitting on the bench, and every time the player spits. If they are baseball players they blow a bubble gum bubble. My favorite, was a player named RON CEY. He plays third base, or something, but I like the way he walks. Also did you notice some of the players put on a special glove if they think they might slide to some base. Might hurt him's wittle hanny. Poor baby.

Well luv, enough for now. Enjoy beautiful Cayucos, and give my love to JACK. While writing this, I'm cleaning my oven.

TRUCKS BEING CHECKED ON COMPLIANCE

SACRAMENTO – The California Highway Patrol is cooperating with the Public Utilities commission in a six-month survey of trucks to determine compliance with PUC registration requirements.

During the course of the study which runs until March 15, 1975, samplings will be made at CHP-operated scales throughout the state. PUC representatives will spend several days at each scale, making spot checks of trucks which have stopped for the weighing process.

Intent of the survey is to inform truckers of PUC registration requirements. Enforcement action is taken only in event of willful violations.

Emphasis is on interstate trucks, although checking of intrastate vehicles is also planned.

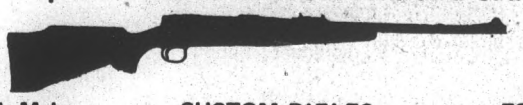

SHERIFF WINS

FRESNO – Tulare County Sheriff Bob Wiley took first go-round in calf roping at the Fresno fair rodeo and also wound up first in the average to win $606. He beat out Tom Ferguson, of Miami, Oklahoma, season leader in professional all-around cowboy standings.

WEATHER

PORTERVILLE – A one-unit course in Aviation Weather will hold its first class meeting at 7 p.m. tonight, October 24, in room LA-6 at Porterville college, with Bertha Coe as instructor. Enrollment may be made by contacting the continuing education office at the college, or at the first class meeting.

Good insulation will keep your home substantially warmer in the winter by holding the heat in. The insulation will also keep the house cooler in summer.

Loans On 1974-Crop Seed Cotton Available Through ASCS Office

VISALIA – A loan program for 1974-crop upland seed cotton is aimed at helping cotton producers reduce costs of harvesting, marketing, and processing, according to Gene Bennett, county executive director of the Tulare County ASCS office.

He explains that loans of 1974-crop seed cotton will be recourse loans; seed cotton may be stored on the farm or at off-farm locations; loans will be made to eligible producers and approved cooperative associations.

After the seed cotton is ginned, it will be available for marketing or for transferring to the regular warehouse-storage loan program. Eligibility requirements for seed cotton and producers will be the same in most respects as under the regular loan program for upland cotton.

Recourse loans will be available on the estimated quality and on up to 95 percent of the estimated quantity of lint cotton, net weight, when the quantity is determined by weight, and on up to 90 percent when the quantity is determined by measurement.

Financing for each lot of seed cotton will be at the loan rate approved under the warehouse-stored cotton loan program for that quality of cotton at the location where it is stored. The base rate for 1-1/16 SLM is 26.20 cents per pound.

Storage of seed cotton to make possible more orderly ginning at a later date has had favorable results in recent years. However, some farmers have been reluctant to store seed cotton because they could not realize needed income from the crop while it was in storage.

Nearly all cotton is now harvested by mechanical means during a short period, weather permitting - generally within 6 to 12 weeks. As a result, gins are overtaxed during harvest and then for the greater part of the year, machinery and other facilities are unused.

Ginning practices made possible by seed cotton loans should allow more economical use of machinery and labor and result in an improved ginning job and reduced ginning costs to producers.

Seed cotton under the program will be covered by security agreements rather than by warehouse receipts. The quantity and quality of the cotton will be determined by representatives of the ASC County committee.

Persons having questions concerning the seed loan program should feel free to contact the Tulare County ASCS office, 3346 West Mineral King, Visalia.

Resolution On Nuclear Power Plants

PORTERVILLE – Porterville chamber of commerce directors have voted support of a resolution concerning the siting of nuclear power stations passed by the Fresno city and county chamber.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to the six regional coastal commissioners and to state legislators. The Fresno resolution says:

WHEREAS, the supply of natural fossil fuels available for electrical power generation is rapidly being depleted, and

WHEREAS, the nuclear power source is only presently known practical means of generating our future required electrical power needs, and

WHEREAS, nuclear power generating plants require large amounts of water for plant cooling purposes, and

WHEREAS, California's agricultural water supply is now deficient in several inland geographical locations in California, and

WHEREAS, the California Coastal Commission currently limits construction of nuclear power plants on the coast;

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Fresno County and City Chamber of Commerce recommends to the California Coastal Commission, the California Legislature, and all groups and individuals actively engaged in helping to guide California's future growth that an equitable method be achieved in locating nuclear power plants within both the inland and coastal areas to ensure both power and water requirements for sound growth at the most economical cost,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that State Legislation be amended to allow for orderly construction of some nuclear power plants on the coast, which has unlimited water for cooling purposes, and, in turn, will provide the most economical power source to Californians.

CONCERT

PORTERVILLE – Deborah Brown, mezzo-soprano, and Mark Ivanicki, pianist, will appear in concert in the Porterville College theater at 3 p.m. on Sunday, November 3, under the auspices of the Music Teachers Association of California, Tulare County unit.

who want to join the cast and to discuss costumes.

Shaffer and Rodgers state that costumes, which will be made by show cast members, need not be elaborate nor authentic in detail, but they must be colorful. Men, women and family groups can all be used in the cast.

A group of 100 or more Barbershop singers will also appear in the show, with Loren Schmid and Mac Williams in charge of this segment of the production.

In outlining show format, Shaffer says that group from the band representing the Spirit of '76 will first move onto the field, followed by the entire Panther band and drill team. First scene involves Pilgrims and Indians attending church; second scene is a "melting pot" depicting people from all nations coming to America.

An early California scene will feature the Hogan Mexican dancers, followed by a formation relating to the Declaration Of Independence, then a Civil War scene, after which the Barbershop group will sing "America The Beautiful" in a Thanksgiving scene.

Finale of the show, illustrating that the Spirit of '76 still lives in America, will feature the Merideth Wilson tune, "76 Trombones," with 76 trombonists in front of the Panther band which will be backed by the Santa Barbara high school band that will do a pre-game show, and a 100-member drill team from Santa Monica City college.

The big scene in which the large costumed group is needed is the "melting pot." As cast members move through their routine, they will go to a designated spot on the field, then move back into the finale.

At least two rehearsals with the band will be required prior to the November 24 show.

Working with Shaffer also are John Boudreau, director of the Los Angeles Ram band and producer of Ram half time shows. His assistant is Kay Crawford, a member of the Santa Monica City college faculty, who handles choreography and staging.

The Spirit of '76 show will mark the third appearance of the Panther band in the Los Angeles Coliseum for a Ram half time show.
